

2023 HRA Credits

For 2023, FCA will continue to contribute to your Healthcare Retirement Account (HRA) as follows:

- > Eligible retirees or surviving spouses will receive up to $1,975.
- > An eligible spouse will receive up to $1,750.
- > All contributions are based on the retiree's age/service subsidy percentage.

You can use your HRA credits to purchase health care coverage including Medicare and get reimbursed for eligible out-of-pocket expenses.

Medicare Open Enrollment: October 15 through December 7, 2022

Once you are enrolled in Medicare, you don't have to re-enroll or renew your Medicare plan every year. However, open enrollment is your opportunity to review life events, changes in your health care status and medications that have taken place this year to ensure your coverage meets your needs and health care challenges next year. Here are some important things to note:

- > You'll receive an Annual Notice of Change (ANoC) in September from your carrier. The ANoC will explain any changes happening to your current policy that will take effect the following year, including increase in monthly premiums.
- > A new year can bring changes to your drugs plan's formulary, the pricing tiers that medications are placed in, or the copays required for various types of prescriptions. Find out whether your prescription plan will cover your current medications in the upcoming year, and how much you'll pay for them. If you take expensive medications, it's a good idea to explore other prescription plans available in your area to see if they have lower copays.
- > If you are enrolled in a Medicare Advantage plan, confirm that your current providers will still be in your plan's network for the upcoming year. If they aren't, you may want to change plans or providers; otherwise you will pay higher out-of-pocket costs to stay with the same doctors and the same plan.

To get the most from Medicare coverage – and your health care dollars – carefully evaluate the costs and benefits of all your plan options to make the best choice for 2023.
